

Hello Mum!

Soon to open, this Budapest café seeks to make the city more family friendly. It will provide a space for mothers, children and mothers-to-be to come together and attend events and act as an information resource for families living in and visiting Budapest. It will offer ethically sourced local products and sell goods made by WAHM (work-at-home mother). Hello Mum! hopes to establish a place where women (and men) can eat, drink, talk and work while children are free to play and explore.
